PRESS AND RADIO GUIDE

KEN MCKENZIE, Editor

To The Press and Radio:

It is sincerely hoped that the third annual National Hockey League Press and Radio Guide will be of considerable assistance to you in covering professional hockey this season, and more particularly in reporting on games and players of the National Hockey League.

This booklet has been assembled in compact, ready reference form with the object of disseminating as much factual information as possible in the minimum space consistent with easy reading and quick research.

Features added to this year's Guide are Longest Streaks During 1948-49 Season; Important Dates During 1948-49 Season; Results of N.H.L. All-Star Games and several additions to N.H.L. Records.

If you desire any further information that has not been covered in this booklet, please contact this office or the Publicity Director of the appropriate club.

The National Hockey League and its member clubs are greatly appreciative of your past co-operation and contributions in publicizing hockey and our efforts in the future will be directed toward maintaining our cordial relations of the past and to make your work covering National Hockey League activities easier and more pleasant.

KEN MCKENZIE,

Publicity Director.

x—Number of games player took part in not reported.

*—Match penalty not included in total penalty minutes.

**—Two Match penalties not included in total penalty minutes.

***—Three Match penalties not included in total penalty minutes.

****—Match Misconduct penalty not included in total penalty minutes.

1946-47 was the first season that a Match penalty was automatically written into the player's total penalty minutes as 20 minutes. Now all penalties, Match, Game Misconduct and Misconduct are written in as 10 minutes.

From 1926-27 to 1930-31 each team in the N.H.L. played 44 games in a season. From 1931-32 to 1941-42 each N.H.L. team played 48 games in a season, and in the seasons from 1942-43 until 1946-47 each team played 50 games.

From 1946-47 to 1948-49 each N.H.L. team played in 60 games. Commencing with the 1949-50 season each team will play 70 games.

* Prior to 1938-39 season the League was divided into two sections—Canadian Division and American Division. These records are of those Clubs still members of the N.H.L.

CHRONOLOGICAL HISTORY OF N.H.L.

The 1948-49 season was the 32nd in the history of the National Hockey League. The chronological history of the League in the three decades is as follows:

1917 — The National Hockey League was organized in Montreal on November 22. Delegates representing Montreal Canadiens, Montreal Wanderers, Ottawa and Quebec were present. These four teams along with the Toronto Arenas were admitted into the league. Quebec held a franchise but decided not to operate it that season. Frank Calder was elected President and Secretary-Treasurer. First games in this new League were played December 19, 1917. Toronto was the only city that had artificial ice.

1918 — When the Westmount Arena, home of the Wanderers, burned down, the team dropped out of the League.

1919 — Quebec Bulldogs operated their franchise in the League. Toronto Arenas changed their name to Toronto St. Pats.

1920 — Hamilton Tigers replaced Quebec.

1924 — Boston Bruins became first American Club to join the League, and Montreal Maroons entered the ever-expanding circuit, giving Montreal two teams.

1925 — Hamilton Tigers' franchise was sold to New York Americans for $75,000. The third United States Club, the Pittsburgh Pirates, entered the League.

1926 — Biggest single year in history of N.H.L. Three new United States teams, New York Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Cougars were admitted into the League. It was now a 10-club circuit, and was divided into two sections: Canadian Division had Toronto Maple Leaf (changed name from St. Pats to Maple Leaf), Ottawa Senators, Montreal Canadiens, Montreal Maroons and New York Americans. American Division consisted of Boston Bruins, New York Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks, Detroit Cougars and Pittsburgh Pirates. The Stanley Cup, most coveted prize in hockey, came into the exclusive possession of the National Hockey League.

1930 — Pittsburgh franchise was transferred to Philadelphia where a team known as the Quakers operated for one season. Detroit changed team's name from Cougars to Falcons.

1931 — Philadelphia dropped out of League. Ottawa retired from League for one year.

1932 — Ottawa resumed play for two seasons.

1933 — Detroit changed nickname from Falcons to Red Wings.

1934 — Ottawa franchise transferred to St. Louis. Team was called St. Louis Eagles and consisted of most of the Ottawa players of the previous season.

1935 — St. Louis dropped out of the League, leaving the membership at eight teams.

1938 — Montreal Maroons retired from the N.H.L.

1941 — New York Americans changed name to Brooklyn Americans.

1942 — Brooklyn Americans retired from League. This left the present six teams in the League — Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins, New York Rangers, Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks.

1943 — Frank Calder, President of League since its inception, died in Montreal in February. Mervyn "Red" Dutton, former manager of New York Americans, succeeded him as president.

1946 — Dutton retired as President of League prior to opening of 1946-47 season and was succeeded by Clarence S. Campbell.

1946-47 — Neutral linesmen introduced.

—Players' Bonuses and Play-Off Guarantees.

1947 — New Constitutional Agreement entered into by all Member Clubs to continue in perpetuity.

1947 — First Annual All-Star Game played in Toronto, and former All-Stars recognized.

1947-48 — National Hockey League attendance record of 2,518,042 was established.

1948 — National Hockey League Pensions Society formed. $30,000 donated towards erection of Hockey Hall of Fame building at Kingston, Ont. Acceptance of Art Ross Trophy to be awarded annually to the player that wins the scoring championship.

THE IMPORTANT RULE CHANGES

1918-19—The three playing zones, and forward passing in centre area came into existence. Tabulation of assists first started.

1920-21—Goalkeepers were allowed to pass the puck forward in the defensive areas.

1926-27—Forward passing allowed in neutral zone only.

1927-28—Forward passes were allowed in defending and centre zones. Goalkeepers pads were cut down to 10 inches in width. Prior to that they were 12 inches across. Length of hockey stick limited to 53 inches. Previously there had been no limit.

1934-35—The penalty shot made its appearance.

1929-30—Legislation removed all restrictions from forward passes in all zones.

1938-39—Penalty shot made more spectacular for fans by allowing the player taking the shot to carry the puck right into the goalmouth if he so desired. One referee and one linesman introduced.

1941-42—Overtime discontinued in League games.

1943-44—Red line at centre ice introduced; speeded up game.

1945-46—The one referee and two linesmen form of officiating made its appearance.

1946-47—A system of signals by officials was designed to keep fans better informed on rule infractions.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE ALL-STARS

N.H.L. All-Stars are selected by the six coaches. Points are awarded on a five-three-one basis and a perfect score is 25 points. Coaches are not allowed to vote for players on their own team. Players named to positions on the First Team receive $1,000 from the National League, while players selected to the second squad are awarded $500 each.

The last three N.H.L. All-Star Teams have been selected by the coaches. Prior to 1946-47 the team was picked by a poll of hockey writers conducted by the Canadian Press. Coaches have not been named to the All-Star Teams of the last three years.

THE STANLEY CUP

Symbolic of the world's hockey championship, the Stanley Cup is the oldest trophy contested for by professional athletes on the North American continent. It was donated by Lord Frederick Arthur Stanley of Preston, a Governor General of Canada, in 1893. At first it was for amateur competition, but in later years was played for solely by professionals.

The Stanley Cup came into the exclusive possession of the National Hockey League in 1926-27, following on the heels of the disbandment of the Western Canada League. Since 1926-27 the Toronto Maple Leafs have more or less dominated the trophy, winning it six times. Montreal Canadiens have won it four times since '26-27, while New York Rangers, Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins have each won the cup three times. Chicago Black Hawks have captured the prized piece of silverware on two occasions.

—In the spring of 1919 the Montreal Canadiens travelled to Seattle to meet Seattle, PCHL champions. After five games had been played—teams were tied at 2 wins each and 1 tie—the series was called off by the local Department of Health because of the influenza epidemic and the death from influenza of Joe Hall.

THE O'BRIEN TROPHY

The O'Brien Trophy is awarded annually to the Stanley Cup finalist and was won the past two seasons by Detroit Red Wings. This beautiful trophy constructed of solid silverware, is the most expensive of all N.H.L. trophies. It was first presented to the National Hockey Association by M. J. O'Brien in 1909.

This trophy was awarded originally to the team that won the National Hockey Association championship, and when the N.H.A. passed out of existence in favor of the N.H.L., it still was awarded to the team that won the N.H.L. championship. From 1927-28, when the National Hockey League operated in two sections — Canadian Division and American Division — until 1938-39 when it reverted back to one section, the O'Brien Trophy was presented annually to the team that won the Canadian Division.

From 1938-39 up until the present day, the O'Brien Trophy has been awarded to the team that is eliminated in the Stanley Cup final. Detroit Red Wings have won the trophy five times since 1938-39.

THE PRINCE OF WALES TROPHY

The Prince of Wales Trophy is presented annually to the team that wins the National Hockey League championship. It was donated in 1924 by His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales. Detroit Red Wings were the winners in 1948-49.

From 1927-28 until 1938-39 this trophy was awarded to the team that finished on top of the American Division of the N.H.L. Since 1938 however, when the League operated in one section, it has gone to the team finishing first at the end of the regular schedule.

Montreal Canadiens have won it more times than any other team since it has been awarded to the N.H.L. champions. Canadiens have annexed the trophy four times. Boston Bruins have captured it on three occasions, Detroit Red Wings twice, Toronto Maple Leafs once and New York Rangers once.

THE HART TROPHY

Looked upon as the highest individual award in hockey, the Hart Trophy is awarded annually to "the player adjudged to be most valuable to his team". It was won in 1948-49 by Sid Abel, veteran center and captain of Detroit Red Wings.

The Hart Trophy was presented to the National Hockey League in 1923 by Dr. David A. Hart, father of Cecil Hart, manager-coach of the 1930 and 1931 Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens. Frank Nighbor of Ottawa was the first winner of the Hart Trophy in 1923-24.

Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins' famed defenseman, won the coveted award more than any other player. Shore had his name engraved on the trophy four times. Howie Morenz, Montreal Canadiens' peerless center, won it three times.

Abel, top goal-scorer in the N.H.L. during the '48-49 season, polled 43 out of a possible 54 points in annexing the cup. Points were awarded on a three-two-one basis and the selectors were 18 hockey writers and broadcasters in the six N.H.L. cities. For winning the trophy Abel was presented with a cheque for $1,000 by the N.H.L.

Abel was the second Detroit player to win the Hart trophy since it was presented in 1923-24. He finished seven points ahead of Bill Durnan, Montreal Canadiens' goalkeeper, in the balloting for the trophy. It was strictly a two-man race for the award.

THE LADY BYNG TROPHY

By winning the Lady Byng Trophy for 1948-49, Bill Quackenbush, of Detroit Red Wings, became the first defenseman to win the trophy since it was presented in 1925. In capturing the trophy that is awarded annually to "the player adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability during the season", Quackenbush was a unanimous choice of the 18 hockey writers and broadcasters who did the selecting. He polled 52 points out of a perfect 54 and was the first choice of all but two of the selectors, and they selected him second.

Lady Byng, wife of Canada's Governor General of that period, presented the original trophy to the National Hockey League in 1925. Frank Nighbor, of Ottawa, Lady Byng's favorite player, won the trophy the first two years of its existence, 1924-25 and 1925-26. Frank Boucher, of New York Rangers, then went on to win the trophy seven times in the next eight years and he was given permanent possession of it. Lady Byng donated a new trophy in 1935. Lady Byng died in June, 1949 at the age of 78.

Quackenbush, besides being the first defenseman to ever win the Lady Byng Trophy, was also the first Detroit player to ever carry off this award. Chicago Black Hawks' players have won the trophy four times since 1935. Boston Bruins, via Bobby Bauer, have won it three times, with players from Detroit, Toronto and Rangers each winning it once.

An All-Star defenseman in 1947-48 and 1948-49, Quackenbush played 93 consecutive games up to the end of the 1948-49 playoffs without incurring a penalty. He was enriched by $1,000 from the N.H.L. for winning the Lady Byng Trophy.

THE VEZINA TROPHY

The Vezina Trophy is won annually by "the goalkeeper who has played the most games for the team with the fewest goals scored against it", and Bill Durnan of Canadiens made history in 1948-49 by winning it for the fifth time. No other goalie had ever won this trophy on five occasions prior to Durnan's remarkable feat. Durnan has won the Vezina Trophy five times out of the last six years starting with the 1943-44 season. The one season he missed was 1947-48 when Turk Broda of Toronto captured the award.

Cecil "Tiny" Thompson, former netminding ace of Boston Bruins, won the trophy four times. Montreal Canadiens' goalies have won it eight times in all. Boston Bruins' netminders have won it on six occasions. Chicago goalkeepers have won it three times, with Toronto and Detroit goalies winning it twice and a Ranger goalie annexing it once.

Leo Dandurand, Louis Letourneau and the late Joe Catarinich, former owners of Montreal Canadiens, presented the trophy to the National Hockey League in 1926-27 in memory of Georges Vezina, Canadiens' outstanding goaltender who collapsed during an N.H.L. game on November 28, 1925 and died a few months later.

In winning the Vezina Trophy for 1948-49, Durnan only allowed 126 goals to be scored on him in 60 games for an average of 2.10 goals-against per game. He also chalked up ten shutouts while establishing a modern record of shutout hockey when he went 309 minutes and 21 seconds without a goal being scored against him.

THE CALDER MEMORIAL TROPHY

The Calder Memorial Trophy, presented annually to "the player selected as the most proficient in his first year of competition in the National Hockey League", was won in 1948-49 by a European-born player for the second year in a row. Pentti Lund, right winger of New York Rangers, born in Finland 24 years ago, was the top freshman of 1948-49. Lund was also the recipient of $1,000 from the National Hockey League for his achievement.

Twelve players were considered for the outstanding rookie award, with Lund garnering 31 points out of a possible 54. This was 12 more than polled by Allan Stanley, also of the Rangers. Points were awarded on the basis of three for a first choice, two for a second and one for a third. A panel of 18 hockey writers and broadcasters carried out the voting.

Commencing with the 1936-37 season and continuing every year until his death in 1943, Frank Calder bought a trophy each season to be given permanently to the top rookie. Following his death, the N.H.L. put up the Calder Memorial Trophy in his memory and this trophy is to be kept in perpetuity. Gaye Stewart was the first winner of the Calder Memorial Trophy while Syl Apps was the first Calder Trophy winner.

Prior to 1936-37 no trophy was given to the outstanding first-year player. However, four players, Carl Voss, Russ Blinco, Dave Schriner and Mike Karakas were selected as the leading rookies during the four seasons preceding 1936-37.

To be eligible for this trophy a player cannot have have played more than 20 games in any preceding season.

THE ART ROSS TROPHY

This is the newest trophy to be presented to the National Hockey League and was donated to the League at the 1948 N.H.L. Annual Meeting by Arthur H. Ross. The Art Ross Trophy is to be awarded each year to the leading scorer during the regular schedule.

A player who broke into the N.H.L. under the guidance of the donor, won this trophy in 1948-49. Roy Conacher, youngest of the famous hockey family, led the National League scorers with 26 goals and 42 assists for a total of 68 points. Besides being the second player to win the Art Ross Trophy, the Chicago Black Hawks' left winger also pocketed $1,000 from the National Hockey League for his achievement.

The Art Ross Trophy is awarded annually to the player who ends the regular season with most total points. In cases of ties it is awarded in this manner: 1.—player with most goals; 2.—player with least games played and 3.—player scoring first goal that season.

LEFT-HAND SHOTS DOMINATE SCORING

Players propelling the puck from the left-hand side have captured the N.H.L. scoring championship 19 times during the last 27 seasons. Last time a right-hand shot won scoring honors was in 1937-38 when Gordie Dillon of Toronto topped the scorers.
